To Those Who Have Not Renewed Their Subscription.

The response to our statements for back subscription accounts and our renewal offer has been indeed gratifying, considering the drouth condition and the hard times. It shows that the people appreciate our efforts to give them the best paper possible under very trying conditions. Not all have responded yet, however, and we have not yet gotten our subscription list upon the cash basis we desire. Those who are in arrears will please make settlement of their accounts as soon as possible or we shall be compelled to place those accounts in the hands of a collector. The high price of paper and other printing material renders no other course possible for us. Those who have not taken advantage of our renewal offer to them at the old rate of a dollar a year, will do well to do so at once. The extension of time on this offer will end on the 1st day of October. On and after November 1st the Anvil-Herald will be a dollar and a half a year to all, new and old. Hoping this will be the last appeal we will need to make to you on this matter, I am,

Yours to serve,
FLETCHER DAVIS.

Notice Stockmen:

Big crops have been raised in the Southeastern states and those people have lots of feed. They also want to improve their cattle. The drouth over this section affords them an opportunity to get some better cattle than they now have and makes it possible for them to make the most use of their surplus feed, and will cause the cattle to be sent to markets in a fat condition instead of being poor. Representatives of these people are in this state. If a sufficient number of cattle are offered for sale, these representatives will make a trip down here and see what can be done in the way of getting cattle. I have been informed that they have been buying cattle on a basis of the Ft. Worth market.

If any one has surplus cattle that they want to sell I wish that they would let me know so, if a sufficient number can be gotten, that we can get buyers to come in here and look at them, and see what can be done.

GREAT LOYALTY PARADE

John Mofield, a Hondo Soldier Boy, Writes Interestingly of the Great Parade in Washington City.

Dear Editor—

I suppose some of the Hondo people have read of the mammoth parade in Washington. As I had the honor to take part in it I believe I'd "bust" if I couldn't tell about it.

The parade starting precisely twenty minutes after four, led by the President as its commander in chief and followed by the members of both houses of Congress, the uniformed troops of the regular army, National Guard, Marine Corps and Navy, the judiciary Federal employees, veterans of the Spanish-American war and the Blue and Gray
of the Civil war, all forming an escort of honor, marched down Pennsylvania Avenue, amid cheering thousands.

The President himself set the pace (believe me it was a lively one). He walked with a truly martial step, was dressed in a blue serge coat, white flannel trousers and white straw hat. His costume gave significance to the khaki regiments that soon will be contributed to the allied armies to aid them in making the world free for democracy and to overthrow military tyrannies that have tried to rule the world.

About one third of the 28,000 marchers were in uniform. There were regulars from infantry, cavalry, artillery, 2000 Marines from Quantico, men from the officers training camp, Ft.
Meyer, and sailors; also hundreds of Army and Navy officers of the War and Navy department.

Admiral Benson represented the Navy, Maj. Gen. Scott, the Army, and Brig.
Gen. Bernette the Marine Corps. The parade halted for a few minutes while the President escorted by the executive committee took their places in the reviewing stand.

Next came the Senate headed by four veterans of the civil war. Then came the Boy Scout band of 100 pieces; following these came the Representatives with J. C. Sincott, door keeper of the house, acting as marshal. Other prominent Representatives were G. H. La Guardia of New York, James C. De Veyra and Teodoro Youngko, commissioners from the Philippines.

The first marchers in khaki were the Third Infantry regulars, Brig. Gen. W.
A. Nickolsen served as marshal of the second division. Close behind him came the District National Guard's Third Infantry. Next came the student officers from Ft. Meyer, led by Lt. Col.
C. W. Fenton. These men showed up fine. Then following them came the Sixth engineers, the First battalion, company B of the D. C. signal Corps, and then two regiments of field artillery, the 12th and 3rd. (Note from Washington paper): Last but not least in the military contingent came 2,000 Marines from Quantico, the finest drilled regiment and the finest looking men in the parade. Leave it to the marines to show them all up.

Shriil rebel yells and deep throated cheers of the North mingled when the veterans of the fourth division followed. They carried but one banner "The United States", one that could not help but have a world of meaning in the present crisis. L. W. Tolman held the Union side of the banner and B. F.
Hall the confederate side. It was a sight to bring tears to see these war-worn enemies of fifty years ago,
marching side by side, to honor
their grandsons, marching side by side ahead of them. There was many a moist eye as the Blue and the Gray went by. Following these came the "Jackies" of the Washington navy yard and their band. The machine guns and field batteries, painted, proved how the artifices of modern warfare can deceive. (Another compliment from Washington): In all the long lines the marines attracted most attention at the reviewing stand; the lines ahead of them passed with the steady tread of trained soldiers, but the marines marched by, platoon after platoon, with never a ripple to disturb the steady lines." On passing the reviewing stand the command "Eyes left!"

was given; as one man every head was turned toward our President and looked him in the eyes for a moment, while the platoon commander of each platoon saluted. All marched by with a quick alert cadence as the famous marine band played the marine hymn.

The colored regiment followed, but I couldn't tell whether there was any fight in their eyes or not, they looked like burned holes in a blanket. When the first rank of colored drafted men for the national army passed the reviewing stand, the marine band swung into the lively tune of Dixie. It was too much for one big coon, acting as file closer in the first platoon, he wheeled and stuck the spike of the flag he was carrying through the top of his brand new straw "kady"; that was certainly a contrast to the rest of the parade. All the rest marched with a firm measured tread and a serious face.
No doubt many of the marines felt like doing a "double shuffle" and "back step", but they all had too much good training. (Overheard on Fifteenth S.):
"Doris, how tired your eyes look!"
Tired one—"Yes, my dear, I've rolled them too much at the marines this evening."

After we passed Capital hill we got the command to march at ease. It was a grateful one too, for we had been marching for two solid hours with equipment on hard asphalt and a rapid cadence. Some one struck up the marine hymn, and the regiment picked it up, making the town ring.

On reaching the Union Station we were halted. A pretty Red Cross maid pulled a "chow" wagon, with hot coffee and sandwiches in front of the ranks, as well as several cars loaded with cakes, rolls and tobacco, and what made it so good—it was handed out by the cutest little nurses. Some of the boys ate enough for three men just because a pretty girl waited on them.
As we shouldered arms and marched to our train, three cheers for the Red Cross from 2,000 lusty throats rent the air.

I hope I haven't tired any of the readers, Mr. Editor, but I had to tell somebody about it; so I took you for a target. I appreciate the opportunity to take part, for it is only the second time that the President has gone afoot over Pennsylvania Ave. The Japanese mission, ambassadors, Spring-Rice of Great Britain; Journerand of France;
minister Calderon of Bolivia and others
also marched with Mr. Wilson.

Well, I had better shut off the gas,
before somebody does it for me. Sincerely hoping this doesn't effect the subscribers of your paper. I am
Pvt. J. W. MOFIELD.

Mrs. Hugh Woods and children, after a visit of a month or more to Mrs. Woods' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Swearingen, returned to their home in Seguin the first of the week.

Clinton Taylor is among the Hondo young men who is seeking higher education in one of the institutions of learning in San Marcos. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor, his parents, took him over the first of the week in their car.

Jack Fusselman, J. G. Newton and John Henderson left Monday morning on a business trip to Mil m county. They were accompanied as far as San Marcos by Miss Glee Fusselman, who will attend school there the coming term.

It is reported that the county officers are busy today rounding up a few "hombres" that have been doing a midnight cotton business. Just how many are involved, and the amount of their speculations, we have been unable to learn.

Kilhorn & Renken have been awarded the contract for the plumbing in the remodeled home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Finger; also the sheet metal work and plumbing in the new home that is being constructed by Mr. and Mrs. Claud Cilliam on the ranch they recently purchased.

Dr. W. H. Smith, Horace Bradley, Walter Short, P. L. Crane, Fritz Martin, Frank Posey, C. R. Gaines, Sid Carter, T. C. Barnes, Charlie Monkhouse, Oscar Taylor, Frank Cocarelli and W. N. Saathoff, all of Hondo, and John Nixon and Garrett Wilson of Yancey attended the meeting the Shriner's Lodge in San Antonio Thursday night.

L. E. Heath and family were in San Antonio Thursday, their main purpose being to watch the birdmen at Camp Kelley do stunts in the air. While Mr. Heath didn't say, it is understood he is seriously contemplating the purchase of an airplane and says when he does that there will be no such a thing as an unrendered tax roll in his office—that taking to the brush will be of no use as he will spy 'em out and light on 'em from above.

Machine hemstitching and picot edging. Mrs. H. B. Houston, Uvalde, Texas. 38-6mo.

John Balzen of Sturm Hill was in town this week and was a pleasant caller at this office. Mr. Balzen is one farmer that is not complaining much of hard times. He has sixty acres in cotton and will make twelve bales of cotton, and says he has feed enough for his stock for another year. He admits, however, that a good rain would be no great drawback to his section of the county.

Arthur Jungman came home Wednesday from San Antonio where he has been coining dollars of the realm by helping Uncle Sam prepare homes for the immense army he is organizing at that city. After improving his muscle a good part of the summer he will leave today for the A. & M., via Beeville, where he will devote the remainder of the year to the improvement of his mind.

Aug. Schuehle, Aug. Hornung and Joe Fohn were all in Castroville Thursday at the same time, but so far we are not advised as to what designs they had on our peaceful neighbor, but whatever they were, they must have failed as both Mr. Schuehle and Mr. Hornung are at home again and the town is still there. Mr. Fohn, we regret to say, went on to San Antonio where he purposes making his home in future.

A. L. Haegelin was in town this week and was an appreciated visitor at this office. His section has so far succeeded in dodging what little rain has fallen in the county for the past twelve months but he admits he would like to see a little rain; not that he particularly cares for it as he has about got used to doing without it, but says he would like to see a little rain on account of the children who look a little skeptical when he tells them he can remember the time when he saw water fall from the clouds. He wants to prove to them that he was not telling them a fairy story, and that such a phenomena does occur occasionally, even in his neighborhood.

GREAT LOYALTY PARADE

John Mofield, a Hondo Soldier Boy, Writes Interestingly of the Great Parade in Washington City.

Dear Editor—

I suppose some of the Hondo people have read of the mammoth parade in Washington. As I had the honor to take part in it I believe I'd "bust" if I couldn't tell about it.

The parade starting precisely twenty minutes after four, led by the President as its commander in chief and followed by the members of both houses of Congress, the uniformed troops of the regular army, National Guard, Marine Corps and Navy, the judiciary Federal employees, veterans of the Spanish-American war and the Blue and Gray of the Civil war, all forming an escort of honor, marched down Pennsylvania Avenue, amid cheering thousands.

The President himself set the pace (believe me it was a lively one). He walked with a truly martial step, was dressed in a blue serge coat, white flannel trousers and white straw hat. His costume gave significance to the khaki regiments that soon will be contributed to the allied armies to aid them in making the world free for democracy and to overthrow military tyrannies that have tried to rule the world.

About one third of the 28,000 marchers were in uniform. There were regulars from infantry, cavalry, artillery, 2000 Marines from Quantico, men from the officers training camp, Ft. Meyer, and sailors; also hundreds of Army and Navy officers of the War and Navy department.

Admiral Benson represented the Navy, Maj. Gen. Scott, the Army, and Brig. Gen. Bernette the Marine Corps. The parade halted for a few minutes while the President escorted by the executive committee took their places in the reviewing stand.

Next came the Senate headed by four veterans of the civil war. Then came the Boy Scout band of 100 pieces; following these came the Representatives with J. C. Sincott, door keeper of the house, acting as marshal. Other prominent Representatives were G. H. La Guardia of New York, James C. De Veyra and Teodoro Youngko, commissioners from the Philippines.

The first marchers in khaki were the Third Infantry regulars, Brig. Gen. W. A. Nickolsen served as marshal of the second division. Close behind him came the District National Guard's Third Infantry. Next came the student officers from Ft. Meyer, led by Lt. Col. C. W. Fenton. These men showed up fine. Then following them came the Sixth engineers, the First battalion, company B of the D. C. signal Corps, and then two regiments of field artillery, the 12th and 3rd. (Note from Washington paper): Last but not least in the military contingent came 2,000 Marines from Quantico, the finest drilled regiment and the finest looking men in the parade. Leave it to the marines to show them all up.

Shrill rebel yells and deep throated cheers of the North mingled when the veterans of the fourth division followed. They carried but one banner "The United States", one that could not help but have a world of meaning in the present crisis. L. W. Tolman held the Union side of the banner and B. F. Hall the confederate side. It was a sight to bring tears to see these war-worn enemies of fifty years ago, marching side by side, to honor their grandsons, marching side by side ahead of them. There was many a moist eye as the Blue and the Gray went by. Following these came the "Jackies" of the Washington navy yard and their band. The machine guns and field batteries, painted, proved how the artifices of modern warfare can deceive. (Another compliment from Washington): In all the long lines the marines attracted most attention at the reviewing stand; the lines ahead of them passed with the steady tread of trained soldiers, but the marines marched by, platoon after platoon, with never a ripple to disturb the steady lines. On passing the reviewing stand the command "Eyes left" was given; as one man every head was turned toward our President and looked him in the eyes for a moment, while the platoon commander of each platoon saluted. All marched by with a quick alert cadence as the famous marine band played the marine hymn.

The colored regiment followed, but I couldn't tell whether there was any fight in their eyes or not, they looked like burned holes in a blanket. When the first rank of colored drafted men for the national army passed the reviewing stand, the marine band swung into the lively tune of Dixie. It was too much for one big coon, acting as file closer in the first platoon, he wheeled and stuck the spike of the flag he was carrying through the top of his brand new straw "kady"; that was certainly a contrast to the rest of the parade. All the rest marched with a firm measured tread and a serious face. No doubt many of the marines felt like doing a "double shuffle" and "back step", but they all had too much good training. (Overheard on Fifteenth S.): "Doris, how tired your eyes look!" Tired one—"Yes, my dear, I've rolled them too much at the marines this evening."

After we passed Capital hill we got the command to march at ease. It was a grateful one too, for we had been marching for two solid hours with equipment on hard asphalt and a rapid cadence. Some one struck up the marine hymn, and the regiment picked it up, making the town ring.

On reaching the Union Station we were halted. A pretty Red Cross maid pulled a "chow" wagon, with hot coffee and sandwiches in front of the ranks, as well as several cars loaded with cakes, rolls and tobacco, and what made it so good—it was handed out by the cutest little nurses. Some of the boys ate enough for three men just because a pretty girl waited on them. As we shouldered arms and marched to our train, three cheers for the Red Cross from 2,000 lusty throats rent the air.

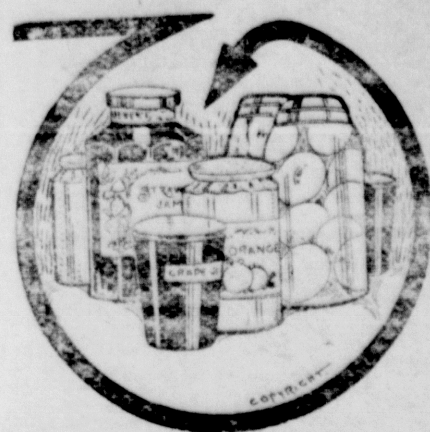

I hope I haven't tired any of the readers, Mr. Editor, but I had to tell somebody about it; so I took you for a target. I appreciate the opportunity to take part, for it is only the second time that the President has gone afoot over Pennsylvania Ave. The Japanese mission, ambassadors, Spring-Rice of Great Britain; Jourserand of France; minister Calderon of Bolivia and others also marched with Mr. Wilson.

Well, I had better shut off the gas, before somebody does it for me. Sincerely hoping this doesn't effect the subscribers of your paper. I am

GAINED 20 POUNDS ON 2 BOTTLES OF TANLAC

Well Known Farmer Says His Health Is Now Better Than in 25 Years.

"Yes sir, I have actually gained twenty pounds on two bottles of Tanlac and I now feel better than I have in twenty-five years," said George W. Perdue, of Edmonds, Okla., a few days ago. Mr. Perdue is one of the best known and highly esteemed farmers in that section, where he has engaged in raising grain and live stock for over ten years. Relative to the merits of Tanlac, the new medicine which is gaining such widespread popularity, as shown in its action on his own case, Mr. Perdue continued:

"I have often seen the time when it seemed to me that the awful pain I suffered from cramps after eating would nearly draw me double. Food soured on my stomach and formed gas that swelled me up until I almost had to gasp for breath. I got so that I was just afraid to try to eat and even the smell of cooking would make me deathly sick. My weight left me and I got weaker all the time. Sometimes for weeks, I wouldn't get two hours' sleep any one night and my nerves got in such a shape from lack of rest, that I would jump at the least little sound. "Mucus dripped into my throat nearly all the time and my nostrils seemed to be stopped up entirely from catarrhal trouble. Dull pains in the back of my head almost drove me wild and my ears roared like a steam engine, which affected my hearing. My eyes were watery and burned like they had acid in them and mists would come up before me so bad that I couldn't see at times. I went to see a specialist and he told me I had catarrhal inflammation of the head and stomach, and I began to try every treatment I could find, but nothing I took relieved my trouble. I read a testimonial in the paper about Tanlac being good for this condition and thought I would see for myself.

"It may sound remarkable, but anybody can just look at me and see the good Tanlac has done me. I have taken two bottles and am on my third and my eyes are as clear as a crystal and my hearing better than it has been for years. I have an appetite that surprises all my folks and everything I eat does me good. My weight has come back in a hurry and I am gaining every day. I can do as much work now as any hand on my farm and lay down and get a good night's rest without ever waking up one single time. I feel like a brand-new man all over and give Tanlac the whole credit for my improvement, as it is the only medicine I ever took that did me any good at all."

Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H. Windrow, in Devine by Lion Drug Store, in D'Hanis by Louis Carle, in LaCoste by Dickey Drug Co., and in Dunlay by Louis A. Haby.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excited; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. No alcohol. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

Mothers' Club.

On account of so many members of the Mothers' Club working at the Red Cross room, the regular meeting of the Club was held at that place on Monday afternoon instead of at the school building.

Mrs. T. C. Barnes presided, and, after a short, earnest prayer by Mrs. G. W. Monkhouse, the roll was called. 25 members answered to roll call and one new name, that of Mrs. F. G. Muenink, was added to the list.

The treasurer reported a balance of $173.92 in the treasury.

Several communications were read and were discussed, as was also the benefits to be derived by purchasing a picture to be given (as the banner was several years ago) to the room at school best represented by mothers at the regular meetings of the club.

Mrs. R. H. Hudspeth, Mrs. O. E. Lacy and Mrs. Fletcher Davis were appointed a committee to draw up a report of the year's work, to be submitted to the State President. It is hoped that the report will be so good as to earn for the Hondo Mothers' Club a place on the Honor Roll.

It was decided to have a called meeting on the opening day of school (Sept. 17). This is to be a "get-together" meeting of teachers and parents and it is hoped that both will profit immeasurably by attending. The meeting will be held at the usual hour, 4 o'clock, at the school building.

The program as outlined in last week's paper was taken up and quite a number of interesting discussions followed, after which the club adjourned to meet in called session on Sept. 17.

CRYING FOR HELP.

The kidneys often cry for help. Not another organ in the whole body more delicately constructed; Not one more important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

Mrs. Jack Droitcourt, Hondo, says: "A severe attack of backache kept me in the house for two weeks. My back pained almost constantly, scarcely letting up night or day. I felt miserable and wasn't able to attend to my housework. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Windrow's Drug Store, took the pains out of my back and completely cured me of the trouble. Three years have passed and it hasn't returned."

Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardui, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive, similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so great, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. — had us get Cardui. . . I began improving, and it cured me. I know, and my doctor knows, what Cardui did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

She writes further: "I am in splendid health . . . can do my work. I feel I owe it to Cardui, for I was in dreadful condition." If you are nervous, run-down and weak, or suffer from headache, backache, etc., every month, try Cardui. Thousands of women praise this medicine for the good it has done them, and many physicians who have used Cardui successfully with their women patients, for years, endorse this medicine. Think what it means to be in splendid health, like Mrs. Spell. Give Cardui a trial.

YES! LIFT A CORN

OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati authority tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone cost very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

Here's to the Men in Navy Blue.

Say pal, I saw you sneer just now, I don't I look good to you? I'm not quite in your class, eh what. For being in Navy Blue?

You think I am not fine enough For such a guy as you. Well, men who wouldn't take your hand Have worn this Navy Blue.

You bar us from your theatres, And from your ball-rooms too, There's room enough to spare for all But not for men in Navy Blue.

We are only common sailors, Till war's hell begins to brew, And then my friend, you are the first to cheer

The lads in the Navy Blue. Take this from me, the men who serve The flag, are both strong and true, Stout-hearted, loyal and brave, Not weaklings, such as you

And say, when I am passed and gone, And life's last cruise is through, I'll not be barred from Heaven because I wear the Navy Blue.

So when you meet a sailorman, I'd mind if I were you That God don't make 'em better than The boys in Navy Blue.
